TWENTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

From the Pastor:

This week I will be leaving for a long planned wedding in Istanbul. It should be quite an adventure to be involved in the wedding of two Muslim friends in that great city. I still do not feel quite good enough to do it alone and I am pleased that one of my brothers and my sister-in-law are going with me. I will return just after Labor Day.

Peace,
Fr. Tom Faucher, Pastor

Del Párroco:

Me iré de viaje esta semana para asistir a una boda en Istanbul. Será toda una aventura participar en esta boda de dos amigos musulmanes. Me alegra que mi hermano y mi cuñada me acompañarán porque todavía no me siento completamente recuperado. Estaré de nuevo en las oficinas después del Día de Los Trabajadores.

Paz,
Fr. Tom Faucher, Párroco

Aparte de la Guerra en Irak, pocos temas parecen levantar tanta polémica como los temas de los inmigrantes indocumentados y la reforma de las leyes de la inmigración. Los Estados Unidos, una nación fundada por inmigrantes, está en medio de un esfuerzo de renovación de un sistema que muchos piensan que no sólo ha fracasado, sino que ha permitido que inmigrantes indocumentados entren, trabajen y vivan en este país. Hace dos años, la Conferencia de Obispos Católicos de los Estados Unidos lanzó una campaña para la reforma de las leyes de inmigración basada en cinco principios que deberían inspirar toda acción de los católicos en referencia a la inmigración: 1) Toda persona tiene derecho a encontrar oportunidades en su propio país. 2) Toda persona tiene derecho a ganarse la vida y el sustento de su propia familia. 3) Las naciones tienen derecho a controlar sus fronteras. 4) Los refugiados y exiliados deben ser protegidos especialmente. 5) Se debe garantizar el respeto a la dignidad humana y a los derechos de los inmigrantes. (Información tomada de "Nuestra Parroquia", agosto 2007). Los abogados nos recuerdan con cierta frecuencia que los Estados Unidos "tienen un sistema de leyes, no un sistema de justicia". Pienso que es trabajo de toda persona cristiana asegurar que el sistema legal esté al servicio de la justicia.

Su amigo y servidor,
Padre Jesús Camacho

Other than the war in Iraq, there are only a few topics that have been able to stir up debate like the topics of undocumented immigration and immigration reform. The United States, a nation founded by immigrants, is in the middle of renovation efforts of a system that many not only think is a failure, but is also a system which has allowed undocumented immigrants to enter, work, and live in this country. Two years ago, the Conference of Catholic Bishops of the United States released a campaign for immigration reform based on five principles that should inspire Catholic action in reference to immigration: 1) Each person has the right to find opportunities for life in one's own country. 2) Each person has the right to provide for oneself and one's own family. 3) The nations have the right to control their borders. 4) Refugees and the exiles must be protected. 5) Respect for human dignity and for the rights of immigrants. (Information taken from "Nuestra Parroquia", August 2007). Lawyers frequently remind us that the United States "has a system of laws and not a system of justice". I think that it is our Christian responsibility to make sure that the legal system serves justice.

Your friend and servant,
Father Jesús Camacho
